Full Container Load

FCL is the shipping option that makes up the majority of the Super Express's Ocean Freight Service and it involves shipping a full container as a single unit. For Customers this is generally the fastest and the most efficient way to move products.

Less Than Container Load

LCL involves moving goods that do not fill a container. Cargos are combined with others to maximize load factors of containers. Combining goods headed to the same region or destination gives customers with lower volume shipments access to ocean freight economies of scale that we are normally restricted to full Container movements.

Non-Containerized Load

The NCL service covers goods that require special handling not covered by shipping in standard container or oversized goods that do not fit a standard container. In addition to moving these loads by ship, Super Express arranges road or other Transport assistance to the Final Destination.

Combined Services

Faster than just Ocean Freight and less Expensive than Simple Air Freight. Your Shipment can also be transported by combining air & ocean freight as well as rail transport. This enables us to achieve the best balance between transport, time and costs.

Sea Freight Refriger Logistics

Temperature-sensitive cargo like foodstuffs, electronics, chemicals or pharmaceuticals must be shipped in accordance with strict specifications. The combination of cargo temperature requirements and climatic variations makes correct temperature control essential.

Super Express ensures that delicate cargo like these gets the best possible care. We achieve this by using state-of-the-art equipment & monitoring the systems and by employing experienced specialists strategically located around the world. Our staffs carefully monitors your shipments through every stage of their journey, continuously checking to ensure that the many factors that can affect the shelf life of a product are properly managed.
